STILL FALLING FOR YOU? A MODERN LOOK AT FALL PREVENTION

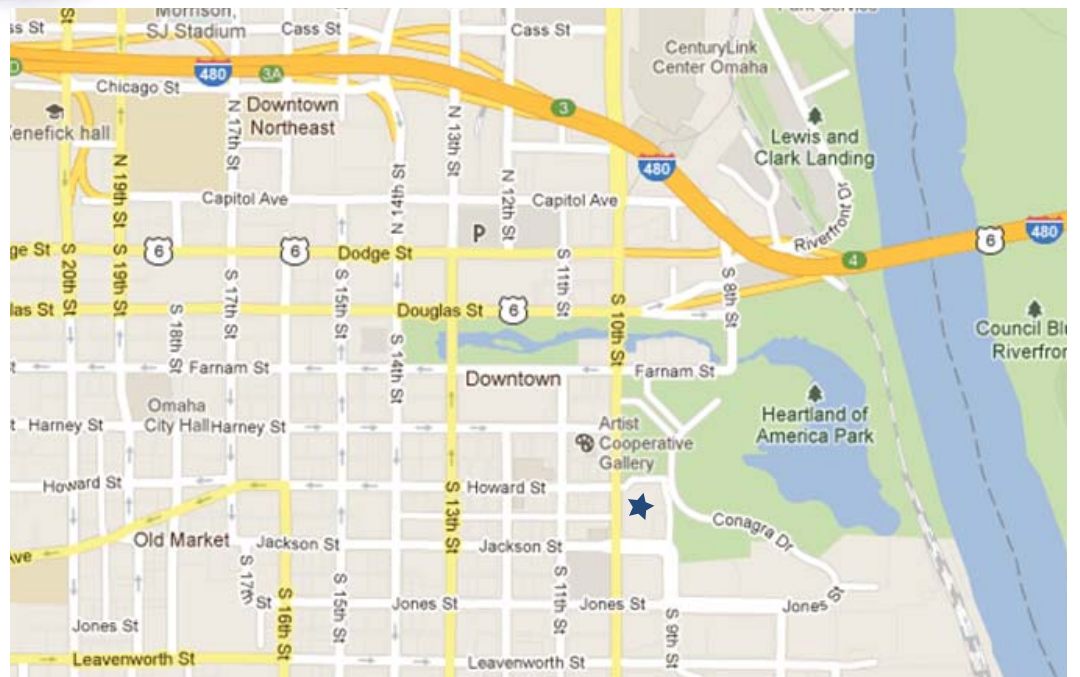

Performing a fall risk assessment is a very important aspect of a fall prevention program; however, utilizing the appropriate assessment tool and developing preventive interventions to address resident specific risks are the keys to a successful program. Although we perform fall risk assessments, residents continue to experience falls. Let's walk through the assessment process together - we will go back to basics, identify new and creative ways to assess falls to assist in establishing effective interventions.
